Section 2: Reading Comprehension

A- Read the following passage, then choose the correct answer from a, b, or d:

Did you see that?" Joe said to his friend Bill. "You're a great shooter!" Bill caught the basketball and bounced it before throwing it again.

The ball flew into the net. "Bill, you never miss!" Joe said admiringly.

"Unless I'm in a real game," Bill complained. "Then I miss all the time."

Joe knew that Bill was right. Bill performed much better when he was having fun with Joe in the school yard than he did when he was playing for the school team in front of a large crowd.

"Maybe you just need to practice more," Joe suggested. "But I practice all the time with you!" Bill objected. He shook his head. "I just can't play well when people are watching me." "You play well when I'm watching," Joe pointed out.

"That's because I've known you since we were five years old," Bill said with a smile. "I'm just not comfortable playing when other people are around." Joe nodded and understood, but he also had an idea.

The next day Joe and Bill met in the school yard again to practice. After a few minutes, Joe excused himself. "Practice without me," Joe said to his friend.

"I'll be back in a minute." Joe hurried through the school building, gathering together whomever he could find two students, a math teacher, two secretaries, and a janitor. When Joe explained why he needed them, everyone was happy to help. Joe reminded the group to stay quiet as they all went toward the school's basketball court.

As Joe had hoped, Bill was still practicing basketball. He made five baskets in a row without noticing the silent people standing behind him. "Hey, Bill!" Joe called out finally. Bill turned. A look of surprise came over his face. "I just wanted to show you that you could play well with people watching you," Joe said. "Now you'll have nothing to worry about for the next game!"

1-What would be the best title for the story?

B- Read the following passage, then choose the correct answer from a, b, or d:

Clarkson is a large town. It has more than fifty thousand people living there. It sits next to a large river, the Clark River. Every day, people take the ferry from North Clarkson to South Clarkson to go to work.

Most people live in North Clarkson. There are many trees and the streets are very broad. When the sun shines and the children run and play in the safe streets, North Clarkson is a wonderful place to live.

South Clarkson has a lot of shops and factories. People don't live there, but they come in the morning to work. There is also a big stadium where the Clarkson Tigers play. On Sundays, many people go to watch their favorite team.

At the weekend, the people from Clarkson enjoy walking along the bank of the Clark River. They also sail small boats on the water and if there is a little wind, they fly kites in the large park.

Every year, Clarkson grows in size because a lot of people come to live there. The government builds more houses and the streets get busier. Maybe in the future, if the town continues to grow, it will become a city!

1- What is there near Clarkson?

C- Read the following passage, then choose the correct answer from a, b, or d:

Carbohydrates, which are sugars, are an essential part of a healthy diet. They provide the main source of energy for the body, and they also function to flavor and sweeten foods. Carbohydrates range from simple sugars like glucose to complex sugars such as amylose and amylopectin. Nutritionists estimate that carbohydrates should make up about one-fourth to one-fifth of a person's diet. This translates to about 75-100 grams of carbohydrates per day.

A diet that is deficient in carbohydrates can have an adverse effect on a person's health. When the body lacks a sufficient amount of carbohydrates it must then use its protein supplies for energy, a process called gluconeogenesis. This, however, results in a lack of necessary protein, and further health difficulties may occur. A lack of carbohydrates can also lead to ketosis, a build-up of ketones in the body that causes fatigue, lethargy, and bad breath.

1- What is the main idea of this passage?

- Carbohydrates are needed for good health.
- Carbohydrates prevent a build-up of proteins.
- Carbohydrate can lead to ketosis.
- Carbohydrates are an expendable part of a good diet.

2- The word “function” as used in line 2 refers to which of the following?

- neglect
- serve
- dissolve
- profess

3- The word “range” as used in line 3 is closest in meaning to which word ?

- probe
- proceed
- hail
- Extend

4- In line 4, the word “estimate” could best be replaced by

- disbelieve
- declare
- calculate
- wonder

5- According to the passage, what do most nutritionists suggest?

- Sufficient carbohydrates will prevent gluconeogenesis.
- Carbohydrates are simple sugars called glucose.
- Carbohydrates should make up about a quarter of a person's daily diet.
- Carbohydrates should be eaten in very small quantities.

6- Which of the following do carbohydrates NOT do?

- prevent ketosis
- cause gluconeogenesis
- provide energy for the body
- flavour and sweeten food

7- Which of the following words could best replace “deficient” as used in line 7?

- outstanding
- abundant
- insufficient
- unequal

8- What does the word “this” refer to in line 9?

- using protein supplies for energy
- Converting carbohydrates to energy
- having a deficiency in carbohydrates
- having an insufficient amount of protein

9- According to the passage , which of the following does NOT describe carbohydrates?

- a protein supply
- a necessity
- a range of sugars
- an energy source

- sensitive
- emotional
- informative
- regretful

12- Which of the following best describes the organization of this passage?

- cause and result
- comparison
- specific to general
- definition and example

D- Read the following passage, then choose the correct answer from a, b, or d:

Winter is cold in some places. Many plants do not grow during winter. Some plants die. Snow and ice may cover the ground. It can be hard for animals to find food during winter. Animals get through this time in many ways.

Birds and butterflies can fly. Many of them do not stick around for the winter. They leave. They go to a place with nice weather. Then they come home in the spring. We call this migration. Migrating is a good way to avoid the cold.

Another good way to avoid the cold is to sleep through it. Many animals hide during the winter. Their bodies slow down. They save their energy. They do not eat. They live off of their fat. They do this until food returns. We call this hibernation. Snakes, frogs, and bears hibernate.

Some animals store food in their homes. They do not sleep all winter, but they do much less. They live on what they saved in the summer and fall. This is what squirrels, beavers, and raccoons do. Skunks do this too.

Other animals tough it out. They do not leave. They do not hide. They must survive. Sometimes nature helps them out. Some animals grow thicker coats in the winter. Other animals change color. The arctic fox is brown in the summer. His coat turns white in the winter.

Winter may be pretty. It is nice to see snow on the trees. But it is dangerous too. People are also at risk. You can get frost bitten or worse. How do you beat the winter? Do you wear a thick coat? Do you stay inside? Or do you live somewhere warm?

1. Which of these animals migrates during the winter?

- foxes
- snakes
- bears
- butterflies

2. Which of these animals survives winter by eating stored food?

- bears
- raccoons
- frogs
- birds

3. Why does the arctic fox's coat change white during winter?

- The white coat is prettier and attracts mates.
- White absorbs the sun and is warmer.
- The white coat helps him blend with the snow.
- His body saves energy by reducing hair color.

4. Which does not hibernate?

- skunks
- frogs
- snakes
- bears

5. Why is winter a difficult season in some places?

- There is less food.
- It is colder.
- Snow and ice cover the ground.
- All of these

6. What does it mean to migrate?

- To grow a thicker coat
- To move somewhere warmer for a season
- To enter a long sleep and survive off of body fat
- To change colors

7. What is the main idea of this text?

- Animals do funny and interesting things.
- Most flowers do not grow during the wintertime.
- Animals survive the winter in many ways.
- We must prepare for the dangers of winter.

8. How does a hibernating animal survive?

- A hibernating animal lives off of stored food.
- A hibernating animal lives off of body fat.
- A hibernating animal lives somewhere warm.
- A hibernating animal lives off of the land.

9. How would a thicker coat help an animal survive winter?

- A thicker coat would help an animal hide better.
- A thicker coat would protect an animal against attacks.
- A thicker coat would help an animal stay warm.
- A thicker coat would help an animal migrate.

10. Which title would best describe this text?

- Winter: A Time to Migrate
- Hibernation: Sleeping it off
- Survive: How Animals Beat the Winter
- Birds and Butterflies: Nature's Movers and Shakers

E- Read the following passage, then choose the correct answer from a, b, or d:

In each British North American colony, the first printing office was established by the Governor and legislative apparatus. Its chief purpose was to publish materials supporting the government's official public communications arena. Aside from these specialized ventures, most subsequent print centers commenced printing and publishing with a weekly newspaper. This had become a regular practice by the mid-1760s, earlier in colonies with the longest tradition of printing.

America's first continuously-published newspaper, the Boston News-Letter published its first issue on April 24, 1704. John Campbell, a bookseller and postmaster of Boston, was its first editor, printing the newspaper on what was then referred to as a half-sheet. It originally appeared on a single page, printed on both sides and issued weekly. In the early years of its publication the News-Letter was filled mostly with news from London journals detailing the intrigues of English politics, and a variety of events concerning the European wars. The rest of the newspaper was filled with items listing ship arrivals, deaths, sermons, political appointments, fires, accidents and the like.

One of the most sensational stories published when the News-Letter was the only newspaper in the colonies was the account of how Blackbeard the pirate was killed in hand-to-hand combat on the deck of a sloop that had engaged his ship in battle. Campbell relinquished his stewardship of the paper in 1722 to Bartholomew Green, its printer. As editor, Green devoted less space to overseas events and more to domestic news.

When Green died after a decade as its editor, the News-Letter was inherited by his son John Draper, also a printer. Draper proved to be a better editor and publisher than his predecessors. He enlarged the paper to four good-sized pages, filling it with news from Boston, other towns throughout the colonies and from abroad.

1- What is the main subject of the passage?
